College Is Praised for Real Vision

Co. Supts. Ryan and Thompson of Utah Visit Schools to Study
Vitalized Rural Life.

The first week in March brought three visitors to the College and to the rural schools of Nodaway County. Dr. Holden was here Monday and Tuesday discussing and arranging plans for summer work in vitalized rural life. Mr. Ryan, County Supt. of Carbon Co., Utah, and Mr. Thompson, County Supt. of Uintah Co., Utah, were here visiting schools and investigating the work being done in vitalized rural life.

Mr. Thompson attended the conference of rural teachers with Mr. Cooper. He also spoke at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. On Friday afternoon he talked to the College folks in the library.

He complimented the school on the work that is being done here. He said, too long has school been apart from life instead of a part of life. You people are doing something new. You are teaching, not abstractions but boys and girls and you are teaching those boys and girls what they want to know. You have gotten away from book lore to the individual.

You have a vision and it is a remarkable one. Will you back up this vision with enough determination to make it a reality? If you do, much will be accomplished. This school may be a real center of training for rural life, the right kind of rural life. People from the west will come to this college instead of going farther east because they will be able to learn and to see the things which they need.

The eyes of the educational world are now turning toward Nodaway County, toward this school and the people connected with it.

The county is an ideal spot for the development of vitalized rural life; the land, the livestock—everything is ready to inspire and instruct the boys and girls.

There is a college well equipped with a faculty who have a real vision of service, to carry out the instruction.

Moreover, Maryville has a Chamber of Commerce whose members' hearts and minds are back of this great venture.

Scarlett's Team Takes Tourney; Seventeen Girls Get Letters.

The girls basket ball teams have finished the tournament which consisted of fourteen games. The results were as follows:

Scarlett's team—10 games.

Dean's team — 3 games.

There was one tie game.

The following girls have made the required average of ninety and will be given letters: Jeannie Blacklock, Osa Coler, Lela Ulmer, Florence Elmore, Mamie Elmore, Abbie Murray, Fern Scarlet, Alice Peery, Annette Simmons, Wave Hulet, Helen Dean, Myrtle Argo, Gladys Bookman, Bessie Danner, Velma Appleby, Jennie Dawson and Eulah Pearce.

Music in Assembly.

Lee Meek was in charge of the assembly program, March 9. An Aeolian concert was given. The following pieces were played: Hungarian Danse, Beautiful Ohio, Hindustan, Selections from Carmen, Poet and Peasant, Rose of Normandy, Ting Ling Toy.

Mr. Swinehart went to Lenox, Iowa, March 5 to act as judge in the southwest sub-district oratorical contest. The contest consisted of three divisions, oratorical, humorous and dramatic. It was a superior contest and very interesting. Among the schools taking part in the contest were: Lenox, Clarinda, Conway, Mount Ayr, Creston and Fontanelle.

Students are Planning Gardens.

The students enrolled in the course in gardening are getting some practical experience in plant culture. They have prepared and planted a hotbed, and prepared the seed beds and made some plantings in the greenhouse. Later, a school garden will be planted which will be so arranged as to provide laboratory work during the summer term. This will be a regular farm garden except that it will be modified somewhat in order that the class may study vegetables and the value of commercial fertilizers.

Each student is required to make a garden plan, which may be one for the home garden or school garden. The plan will show the size of the garden, the distance between the rows, the kind of vegetables, and the amount and cost of the seed necessary to plant the garden.

Artistic Changes in Auditorium; Motion Picture Machine Added.

The auditorium of the Northwest State Teachers College, by the opening of the summer term, will probably be the most artistic, best equipped assembly room of its kind in the country. The room is to be re-decorated in buff and green. The windows and shades are to be arranged in such a way that the room in daylight can be darkened in almost a moment, so that pictures may be shown at any time.

In the balcony at the rear, a motion picture machine is to be installed. Mr. Wilson is trying to obtain for this the best that can be found. It is to be a machine which can be used for cards and slides as well as for motion pictures. This will make it possible for the machine to be utilized by many different groups and classes in a variety of ways.

The stage, however, is the most attractive part of the room. A built-in indoor scene—a fire place in the middle with French doors at each side of it, and two side entrances at the right and two at the left of the stage—all decorated in buff and green, makes it, as both Miss Dow and Miss DeLuce expressed it, "the most artistic stage to be found." There will also be a more simple indoor scene and a garden scene. The stage is so arranged that these may be placed immediately in front of the permanent scene. The sides and ceiling of the stage are so built that side-lights and top-lights may be used as well as foot-lights, making it possible to have the lighting effect whatever may be desired.

Green velvet curtains and draperies with golden cords, both on the stage and on the balcony will complete the artistic effect. On the draperies above the stage-curtain will be emblazoned a large golden "M."

President Richardson is to be commended on the appearance of the room as a whole. Credit for the artistic effect is due Miss DeLuce, Miss Dow, and Miss Winn for their plans and suggestions.

Miss James gave a dinner party Sunday, March 14, in honor of Miss Martha Packard of Kansas City. Additional guests were: Miss Blanche Dow, Miss Olive DeLuce, Miss Jennie Garrett, Dr. Jessie Clark, Mrs. Nellie Airy, Master William Garrett, and the hostess.

Philos to Give Historical Play

The First Lady of the Land Will be Presented March 30 for the Support of War Orphan.

The First Lady of the Land is the play to be presented by the Philomathean Literary Society in the College Auditorium, March 30, and as the title suggests, the story concerns those high in the diplomatic life of Washington.

The theme centers around the rivalry which existed between Aaron Burr and James Madison for the hand of Dolly Todd during the administration of Thomas Jefferson. Burr's dream of the conquest of Mexico, his duel with Alexander Hamilton with its tragic ending, the animosities and jealousies of the ministers from England, France and Spain, all enter into the action of the play and nowhere is this page from America History so interestingly and attractively portrayed.

The play is full of clever situations and sparkles with fun from beginning to end. From the entrance of Mrs. Sparkle, who may be truly said to sparkle, to the final exit of the hen-pecked Lord Merry, there is not a slow moment. The slow-moving but ever-smiling Von Berckels, the irrepressible Sophia Sparkle, and even staid James Madison, who in a moment of unprecedented hilarity, beseeches Dolly Todd to teach him the steps of the new dance, make the play alive and full of interest.

The first two acts are laid in a sitting room at the boarding house of Dolly Todd in Philadelphia; the last two in the White House at Washington. Colonial costumes will be furnished by Theo Liben, Kansas City. Tickets will be on sale after March 18.

The cast of characters will be taken as follows:

Aaron Burr, Vice-Pres. of the United States Kenneth Carter
James Madison, Secretary of State Myron Babby
Bohlen Pinckney, Sec. to the Pres. Ernest McDonald
Sir Anthony Merry, Minister from Great Britain Jasper Adams
Monsieur Pichon, Minister from France Euel Ramsey

THE GREEN AND WHITE COURIER

Here and There Among the Colleges

IN THE STATE

Park College took first honors in State Oratorical Contest held at Central College, Fayette, March 5, 1920.

McClusky, of Park, won first with an excellent, well delivered, and forceful oration, "The Human Equation."

Richeson of Central, took second honors with his oration, "The Negro Question; Segregation or Slaughter."

Havighurst, of Central Wesleyan, captured third place with his modern problem oration, "The Sustaining Force of Industry."

Foley of Tarkio with his oration, "The Dawn's Red Gleam," and Winslarough with his oratorical tribute to President Wilson, "The Voice of the Age," were tied for fourth place.

Prof. Rankin and Journey of M. U. and Mr. Hill of Columbia were the judges.

William Jewell College has recently received $20,000 in pledges for its endowment fund.

Central Wesleyan must have an additional $70,000 by June 1 to complete its endowment.

Drury looks forward to the completion of its $750,000 endowment drive by the first of May. Half of this fund has already been subscribed.

This week a live organization of Drury boosters are carrying their drive into Kansas City and from there they will canvas St. Louis, finishing the drive in Springfield.

The Springfield State Teachers College seem to have the undisputed title to the basket ball championship. The recent defeat of Central Wesleyan and Westminster leaves the Springfield S. T. C. the only undefeated team in the M. I. A. A.

Fourteen of the Kirksville "Bull Dogs" received sweaters in recognition of their work during the '19 foot ball season.

The Kirksville "Index" boasts of their "Kirksville Koncert Kompany," a musical organization whose members were drawn from the music students of that school. This company has completed a limited tour of near-by towns and were highly acclaimed for their interesting performances.

OUT OF THE STATE

Three of the Normal schools of the State of Washington have formed a debating league. It is expected that the league will be made permanent and that annual debates will be held between the schools.

The home economics department of the Bellingham, Wash., Normal School entertained with a rather novel luncheon. The menu was of Washington products only. The purpose was to advertise Washington products and to encourage people to patronize home industries.

"The Handout," the school paper published by the Texas Woman's College at Fort Worth, Texas, was received this week. The paper announces the election of the May Queen.

Irvin Cobb, famous humorist, talked to Aberdeen Audience.—The Exponent, Aberdeen Normal School, South Dakota.

The College of Idaho at Caldwell, Idaho, publishes the "College Coyote," which is exchanged regularly with this paper. The Coyote describes several commendable activities, such as the Girls' Glee Club, which gives concerts and operettas. Also, the debating contests are interesting and up-to-date. Recently the school gave a "feed" to make up the foot ball deficit. This shows that they have the right spirit.

The annual state school basketball tournament will be held at Columbia, Mo., March 19 and 20. At this time the state interscholastic championship will be awarded.

Johnny Scholz added his name to the long list of Missouri track stars, which includes John Nicholson, Bob Simpson, Bill Sylvester and others, when he equalled the American record for the 70-yard indoor dash at the Melrose A. A. games in New York. His time was seven and one-fifth seconds.—Collegiate World.

All the colleges seem to be debating and preparing for debates. There will be a triangular debate, April 1, between Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania. Coe and Grinnell Colleges of Iowa will meet in a debate March 20.

Michigan has 1,533 students participating in the nine varieties of intra-mural sport according to recent statistics as follows: Rugby football, 644; basket ball, 550; golf, 50; hockey, 80; swimming, 35; tennis, 91; cross-country running, 49.—Inter-Collegiate World

Lake Erie College for women is building a new $176,000 modern gymnasium.

The Y. W. C. A. of the University of Wyoming will present the opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," some time in April.

The girls' basket ball team of the University of Cincinnati call themselves the "Feminine Five." They have had a victorious season.

The play, "A Dozen Lunatics," was recently presented by the Athenian Society of Grand Island College, Nebraska.

COLLEGE COMMENDED FOR REAL VISION.

Since people out of the district and out of the state are coming to Nodaway County and to the S. T. C. to learn of vitalized rural life, the question is being asked by many students in the school and others out in the district, what is vitalized rural life? The following definitions have been given by those engaged in this work.

"In the vitalization of rural schools the daily activity of the class room takes its initial point of departure from the life of the child and on the farm."

"Vitalized agriculture is a first hand study of the resources, equipment, life and work of the farm and its homes."

"Vitalized agriculture is a system of education which trains the youth in terms of life, thru the teaching of real things and rotation of subjects, to respect labor, the farm and the home; by the child's participation in all the activities of the community and the vitalization of every educational factor of its neighborhood, every patron is made a part of the school and becomes both a student and an instructor."

There is no regular text book in agriculture, but many books and bulletins are used as references. Books are used more than in the old system, but the children have a definite motive, every time they refer to them. They want to know how to compute the contents of a silo, measure the corn in their crib, control the corn root worm, or learn how and why yeast makes bread light.

Language comes from telling and writing about their field experiences, from writing for bulletins and from the experiences of other people. Reading comes from their references to bulletins and books, and spelling from the words they use in their daily experience.

Everything is studied from the standpoint of the need of the pupil, the school, the community.

Mr. Miller received a letter from Mr. J. H. Francisco asking him to deliver the class address April 23, at Camden Point. He also received a commencement call from E. R. Adams for an address to be given at New Hampton May 14, 1920.

Miss Dow and Miss DeLuce motored to St. Joseph March 6. While there they attended "Experience."

LITERARY SOCIETY NOTES.

EUREKAN.

The program for Thursday, Mar. 11, consisted of extemporaneous speeches by some of the members of the society:

The Teaching Profession Abbie Murray
The American Newspaper..... Clifford Hull
Results of the World War..... Lee Meek
The American Newspaper..... Ernest McDonald
Jennie Dawson, Grace Stevenson and Lee Meek signed the Constitution.

Every Eurekan should be present at the next meeting in order to get in on the "Big Eurekan Secret." Absolutely no one else will be allowed to know "It" after next week. It's worth knowing, too.

EXCELSIOR.

A debate on the question, Resolved, That Immigration Should be Further Restricted, was given in the Excelsior room March 11. Marshall Long and Ethel Sloan gave the argument for the affirmative and Mary Croy and Helen Tebow for the negative. The decision of the judges, Mr. Miller, Mr. Leeson and Miss Helwig was in favor of the negative.

PHILOMATHEAN.

The Philos met in regular session March 11, and the following program was rendered:

Reading—The Substitute..... Mrs. Metzler
Extemporaneous Talk—The Growth of the American Newspaper.... Viola Barber
Philo Song..... Society
Roll call answered by quotations.

The following students who were in school last quarter, before leaving, handed their names to Miss Winn and asked that the Green and White Courier be sent them: Neva Wallace, superintendent, Dawn, Mo.; Eunice O'Brien, teacher at Gilman City; Jennie Getz, high school teacher at Barnard; Alyce Leeper, high school teacher, Grant City; Ira Fantz, Skidmore; Edith Coler, Fort Collins, Colo.; Glen Anderson, Guilford; Mr. Anderson has been employed to teach the Whitford school near Guilford, taking the place of Mary Kane, who resigned on account of illness.

Those who went to St. Joseph March 12 were: Helen Dean, Blanche Alexander, Sallie Simmons, Jennie Dawson, Katherine Boettner, Alice Peery, Mildred Eckert and Lucille Wright.

Freda Shaffer, Cella Welden and LaVora Hudson were the week end guests of Miss Mildred Hudson in St. Joseph March 12-14.

News of Northwest Missouri High Schools

This page belongs to the high schools of the district. The news is furnished by a local reporter, either teacher or student. If you wish the other schools to know what you are doing, send us your news.

ROSENDALE.

The Philomatheans entertained the Excelsiors and teachers at the school building Friday night. Music and games were the amusements of the evening.

County Superintendent Cooper visited the school Thursday.

The agriculture class is studying poultry.

Maps have been received for Ancient and M. and M. History.

BETHANY.

The section of the Freshman history class who won in the history contest by making the highest grades was entertained Friday night at the school house by the defeated section. A short program of music, songs and games furnished splendid entertainment for the guests. A cafeteria supper consisting of sandwiches, pickles, nut salad and cocoa was served in the sewing room.

The Seon literary program given last Thursday was: Book Review, Mae Ganna; A Popular Person's Diary, Ruth Linthacum; solo, Evelyn Gillespie; Found on Examination Papers, Lily Linville.

The subject for debate in the Westernian Debating Club was: Resolved, That the government should own and control a merchant marine. Affirmative, Donald Welsh Charles Sherer and Howard Smith; negative, Melvin Wyatt, Faye Dunn and Victor Guymon.

Bethany High School had a "Better English Week" during which everyone who made an error in speaking had to sign his name on a slip of paper, making him responsible for a fine. During the week both the students and faculty had spelling matches and a Freshman was found to be the champion speller. The whole school enjoyed their "Better English Week" and felt it worth while in spite of the fines.

The Freshman Thrift Society of Bethany High School bought $32.50 worth of thrift stamps in one month.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS.

Indolence is often mistaken for patience.

Love and philosophy are sworn enemies.

Probably the noblest pursuit of women is an honest man.

Chewing gum was probably invented by a woman who had no one to talk to.

A girl's features may be impressed upon a young man's memory, but it's always her complexion that shows on his collar.

—The Excelsiorite.

MOUND CITY.

The students of the senior class have begun practice on their play, "And Come Home, Ted," which will be given about April 16.

Mound City was defeated on the home court Feb. 27 by Tarkio by a score of 26 to 16.

The chemistry class has been testing soda pop and candy for their bright colors.

Last week three members of the junior class challenged three members of the senior class to a debate. The seniors accepted and the debate was given Monday morning, March 8. The question was: Resolved, That able-bodied soldiers returning from abroad are better fitted for future life than the boys who stayed at home. The affirmative was upheld by the seniors, and the negative by the juniors.

MAYSVILLE.

Friday morning in assembly the Freshmen dramatized The Last of the Mohicans.

The teacher training class under the supervision of Miss Sylvia Ratliff, their teacher, spent last week in rural schools. They observed the work of the regular teacher, and did some practice teaching. The members of this class are: Lucile Porr, Anna Donovan, Viola Redman, McLee Fisher, Elza Redman and Samuel Thornton.

The sewing class is making an extensive study of different kinds of fabrics. They have collected samples of cotton, wool, silk, and linen and expect to make tests for adulteration of each one.

The bookkeeping class visited the Maysville bank Wednesday of last week.

BARNARD.

R. M. Ross, who has been teaching mathematics in the high school, closed his work Friday of last week. The high school teachers and pupils gave him a farewell surprise party before he left.

Miss Jennie Getz of the College has taken Mr. Ross' place.

The Zeta Sigma Literary Society gave a program March 5.

The high school agriculture class visited Mr. Culver's fine herd of Duroc-Jersey hogs.

ST. JOSEPH CENTRAL.

The students of St. Joseph Central High School will present the comic opera, "Cherry Blossoms," March 19.

MARYVILLE.

Friday afternoon, Mar. 22 a special train took a goodly number of the students from the Maryville High School to St. Joseph, to witness the basket ball game between Maryville High School and Benton High School. The score was: 17-14, in favor of Benton.

Ravenwood Wins Debate.

Dr. Keller, Mr. Leeson and Mr. Ziegler went to Ravenwood Saturday, March 6, to act as judges in the debate between Ravenwood and Richmond High Schools. Ravenwood won the debate, arguing the negative side. This makes the third time Ravenwood has won.

The subject of the debate was: Resolved, That there should be government ownership and control of merchant marine.

Edith and Osa Coler have written friends of their arrival in Colorado. Their address is 644 Peterson St., Fort Collins.

NEW POINT.

New Point Consolidated School, in Holt County, is briskly stepping to the front, changing in rank this year from a third class to a first class high school. New Point has a superintendent's cottage as well as a new $20,000 school building. The latter contains a gymnasium, a manual training room, domestic science rooms for both cooking and serving, a hospital room for first aid treatment, and an assembly room, besides the class rooms. The assembly room seats three hundred, and is much used for community gatherings.

Vitalized agriculture work here is highly commended in a great article by Mr. A. A. Jeffrey in the Missouri Ruralist. Vitalized agriculture however, is only one of the good points that make this school what it is. New Point has the only domestic science department in Holt County. Here the pupils get training that makes them homemakers as well as fitting them vocationally, for life work.

Much of the success of the New Point school is due to the co-operation of the people in the districts which have united to make the consolidated district. The mere fact that they levy school taxes "in excess of supposed limits," as Mr. Jeffrey puts it, shows the attitude of those people. One farmer, free of all costs, has trained a band of sixteen boys, and is now the leader of a band which makes real music. New Point has two basket ball teams, Superintendent Skelton coaching the boys' team and Miss Seat the girls.'

Last October, a community fair was held at the school house. It was the first of its kind, but it proved to be a decided success. Several of the S. T. C. instructors assisted in the work of the fair, especially in the vitalized agriculture and the domestic science work.

Silas W. Skelton, 1915, the superintendent, and Vivian Seat, B. S., 1919, are both alumni of the Northwest State Teachers College.

Board of Control Meets.

The Board of Control of the High Schools of this district met in St. Joseph Saturday, March 13. The purpose of this meeting was to submit to the Board records in basket ball for consideration in the coming tournament, March 19 and 20.

The following teams have submitted records. New Hampton, Oregon, Bigelow, Mound City, Pattonsburg, Daleview, Excelsior Springs, Holt, Galt, Westboro, Cameron, Maryville, King City and Benton, St. Joseph.

Superintendent Thompson from Utah, visited the demonstration school on March 5, examining the project method plan in use here. He was interested in the fact that all of the work here is vitalized as agriculture is vitalized in the rural school.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Edwin Wells and Son, Jimmy, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brink had a Dutch treat dinner at the Brink home on March 7.

Then and Now.

In rummaging thru the files of some old catalogues and bulletins of the school the other day, the reporter ran across some interesting facts concerning the College.

We were fourteen years old last fall. In those years, we have grown up, changed our name and are now prosperously settled for a long, successful and useful life in Northwest Missouri. The first years of our growth were struggling pioneer years. The Wandering Jew could be put to shame by a rehearsal of the places in which our recitations were held at first. Solomon could never have had greater cause for pride than we in the building when it was completed.

In 1912, we were seven years old, just half as old as we are now. Then, we had 27 faculty members; we now have 41. Then we offered 110 college courses; now we list practically 240. Then, our highest certificate, requiring two years college work, was that conferring B. P. on the holder; now our degree requiring four years college work, is recognized as the standard B. S. degree in Education, conferring all the privileges that such a degree can confer. Then, we counted all credits by term credits; now, we use the standard college method of semester hours.

Our now Prexy was then head of the department of education. Mr. Hawkins, Mr. Cook, Miss Anthony, Miss Helwig, Miss Hopkins, Mr. Miller, Mr. Swinehart, Mr. Colbert, Mr. Wells of our present faculty were with us then.

Students who have been sent from bank to bank each quarter trying to find the correct one to pay their incidental fee to will be interested to know that then the fee was payable at the Real Estate.

Another interesting item is that then there was a cafeteria, in which no article cost more than four cents, and most of them sold for two cents.

It would be pleasant to have the cafeteria running at these prices now.

In 1915, the degree course was added, and the standards have risen steadily. In 1919 our name was changed from Fifth District Normal School to the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College, and that in the main is what the school purposes to be. But any student planning to do college work of any sort can secure his preliminary training with us.

Beginning Sept. 1, 1920, the College will offer courses in applied music. Instruction in piano, voice, violin, and other stringed instruments and in wind instruments will be given as a part of the college curriculum.

For the past five years, the commercial department has been growing rapidly and steadily and plans are in progress to further increase its service.

Courses have been arranged to satisfy the requirements of the Smith-Hughes Bill so that graduates of the school can qualify to teach under this act.

The Maryville College has led the way in the vitalized Rural Life Work and distinguished visitors from many places in the Western Hemisphere have visited the school for information on this subject. Professor Thompson of Utah predicts that this work is to be the basic principle of the education of tomorrow—so the title of the article might have been, Then Now and Yonder.

Students Prominent in Sunday School.

The Intermediate-Senior department of the First Methodist Sunday School has organized for the promoting of efficient extra-class activities. The superintendent and teachers are to remain directors of the regular class study and as advisors of the organization. A group of officers have been elected for the purpose of directing and initiating other activities. The officers are: Gladys Ford, president; John Price, secretary of a program committee to arrange for and conduct general exercises and special programs; Laura Curfman, general secretary to keep records; Eula Strader, religious secretary to inquire into and stimulate religious activities; Vada Foland, field secretary to keep a committee on the look-out for new people moving in to town; Alma Tabler, absentee secretary, to keep a record with reasons for absentees and to keep a committee urging regularity of attendance on the part of every one; Velma Appleby, social secretary, to arrange for social activities; Helen Dean, recreative secretary for girls and Mr. Esell to organize inter-class and inter-church athletics and camping or hiking activities;

Clun Price, treasurer to handle any special funds. This organization, it is hoped will materially increase the efficiency of the Sunday School.

Y. W. NOTES.

At the Y. W. meeting Wednesday morning, March 10, Miss Hopkins gave an interesting missionary talk. Miss Hopkins has an intimate friend who is a missionary in China. She said the first year spent in the foreign field must be spent in studying the language of the country. She spoke also of the missionary's surroundings and social life.

There are three lines of work open for anyone who becomes a missionary; they may be teachers, zenana workers and medical workers. Miss Hopkins spoke also of the great need for missionary nurses. Not more than one native woman in 150 can read, and the mothers of India show great ignorance in the rearing of children.

All of the religious services in India are conducted by the missionaries; they consist of the same teachings as we have here, only they are more informal.

Standards of Art Teaching.

The teaching of art should be standardized, at least so far as the presentation of fundamental principles and their application is concerned. Let us stop talking about feeling, and emotion, and atmosphere, and other mysteries, and get down to essential principles. Let us teach something that can be understood by the pupils and parents. We may admit that we do not know much about art, but that does not prevent us from choosing hats and gowns and rugs and curtains and houses and every commodity that man must use, and that art should influence. We boastfully affirm "We know what we like," but is what we like good?

Hugo B. Froehlich,
Dir. of Manual Arts, Newark, N. J.

President Richardson went to St. Joseph on business Saturday, March 6.

Coach Rice and wife spent the week end in St. Joseph.

While in Liberty last week, Mr. Miller saw Ernest Daniels, a former student of the College, who is teaching manual training in the high school there. Mr. Miller says Mr. Daniels is very successful and the pupils are exceedingly interested in their work with him.

Mr. Miller also saw Miss Gehring, a former student of the College, who is teaching in an Odd Fellows Home near Liberty.

Vijune Colden and Mary Sewell spent Saturday, March 13, in St. Joseph.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Allen Willis, 1919, spent the evening of March 8 in Maryville. Miss Willis is teaching in the high school at Ravenwood.

Belle Mulholland, 1918, has been released from her work in St. Joseph. She was married to Roy M. Law of Stanberry March 7. They will be at home in Stanberry after March 14. Miss Mulholland has been teaching at the Longfellow school.

May Growney, 1915, who is teaching at Big Horn, Wyoming, has received a ten dollar increase per month in salary, the increase to be paid from last September.

Alma Lucas, 1918, has resumed her teaching after a three weeks' leave of absence due to illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Estes have moved to Maryville where Mr. Estes has a position in Remus' store. Mrs. Estes was formerly Ella Richards, 1914.

Lee Meek, who was formerly employed by the Barmann Auto Co., is now salesman for the H. B. Cushman Music Co.

The concert given by Heifetz, the Russian violinist, in St. Joseph on March 9 was attended by the following persons from here: Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Metzler, Mrs. C. Edwin Wells, Mrs. C. C. Leeson, Mrs. W. A. Rickenbrode, Laura Curfman, Mary Wooldridge, M. W. Wilson, Clarence Vogt, Eleanor Smith, Geneva Wilfley, Miss Brunner, Miss Miller and Ralph Yehle.

Katherine Boettner gave a six o'clock luncheon on March 7 at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miles. The guests were Jennie Dawson, Sallie Simmons, Lucile Wright and Abbie Colnden.

Irene Cobb, who was a student here during the fall and winter terms, is now teaching sixth grade in the Savannah public school.

P. O. Landon, formerly instructor of music here, was in Maryville last week. He sold his interest in the Landon-Scott Music Co. here. Mr. Landon is now interested in farming and banking.

Eunice O'Brien, a former student, was here Saturday taking entrance examinations. Eunice is now teaching history and Latin in the high school at Gilman City.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Trullinger announce the birth of a ten pound boy on March 8. Mr. Trullinger drives the bus for the College Park School.

THE GREEN AND WHITE COURIER

THE STROLLER.

The Stroller tried a new method of procedure this term. Having completed all his required subjects, he visited classes last week to find out what to choose as the new electives he was permitted to take.

In order to have a good excuse for being late to class, and knowing that the dean is famous for furnishing such an excuse by holding his classes beyond the second bell, the Stroller decided to try out in a class with Mr. Colbert (pronounced in the vernacular as tho the first syllable were spelled "coal").

The first question asked was, "What is horsepower?"

Mike Lawton answered, "It is the distance that one horse can carry one pound of water in one hour."

Mr. Colbert puckered up his lips at this answer, scaring the Stroller so, she rushed across the hall to Miss Winn's novel class and got in in time to hear John Phipps lecturing on the wickedness of woman. "When a woman is bad, she is terribly bad; she can lead dozens of men astray," was his theme.

"Yes," returned Miss Ummel, "but most women are good; therefore, when one is bad, she seems so very bad in comparison. Most men are bad; when you find one a little worse, you don't notice it."

Loud chuckles from Harold Houchens; general uproar and dissent from some of the class; Sallie Wilson's pleading voice heard, "Oh, Miss Winn, some men are good." But the Stroller saw there would be no peace in the same class with such a manhater, so again she departed.

Remembering a sign on the bulletin board that every girl was eligible to the spring millinery class, she decided to try this course. But there, the Stroller found Miss Anthony was in Kansas City, and the class in charge of Laura Cuffman. Working on the staff with her, the Stroller knew too much for her, and so refused to remain in that course.

From thence, he strolled up to Miss Dow's room, but got there just in time to hear her turn down an invitation to go to St. Joseph to hear Heifitz because she had to drill the Philo cast for "The First Lady of the Land." The Stroller decided he wanted no class with an instructor as conscientious as that. Goodness knows what she might expect of him.

Miss DeLuce at that moment came down the stairs. The Stroller believed he would rather have a course in Fordology anyway, and so started for the east door with her. But as he came to the typewriting door, he went in to interview Mr. Metzler about some commercial work. But, holy horrors, the sight he saw! There were the typists working away, seeming at first sight as tho they were beheaded! Of course, they were merely working with paper sacks over their heads, but even at that, think of it! As if typing when you can see the letters were not torture enough. But how do you suppose you could type with your eyes shut in like that?

The Stroller came out with a rush—and then, he knew in an instant the course he should select—benchology. For there on the bench looking as efficient as any instructors could, and decidedly more so for this course, were four excellent teachers. Now, one could serve as a lecturer, one as a conference guide, one as grader of notebooks, and one would be left to criticize. None would be overworked, and therefore the course should prove pleasant. So, now the Stroller is hunting Annette Simmons, Kenneth Carter, Blache Alexander and Dean Goslee to sign up. He thinks he knows where to find them.

NOTES OF THE DEPARTMENTS.

HOME ECONOMICS.

Miss Anthony spent from March 10 to 14 in Kansas City. This trip was made for the purpose of studying the spring styles in millinery. Miss Anthony worked in the shops so that she could study better the materials used for the spring styles. The week after her return, the millinery class will begin a street hat.

SCIENCE.

Chemistry 11 is probably the banner class in school in enrollment. Twenty-eight students enrolled for the course in the fall; the twenty-eight re-enrolled in the winter, and twenty-six of them have re-enrolled this spring, one having left school for other work, and one finding it impossible to arrange her program to include this course. Mr. Wilson presents this work in an interesting as well as an instructive manner, making it one of the popular courses of the school.

EDUCATION.

The class in school economy is unusually large this term. So large, in fact, that it has adjourned to a larger room, 219, on second floor. The members sit on kindergarten chairs, camp stools and anything available.

ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY.

Mr. Cauffield is giving a new course in geography. It is a course which correlates with history, especially the history of the late war. Every student interested in history and geography should take the Influence of Geography on History.

MUSIC.

The Ladies Quartet and Chorus hold their meetings every Monday and Thursday afternoons. Additional members are welcome to join the chorus at any time.

HISTORY.

The new course offered by Mr. Foster on the League of Nations, promises to be interesting as well as instructive. The class is planning to work out a bibliography containing a list of books, pamphlets, and magazines which contain material on the subject. Since this is a topic of world wide interest, this bibliography will help materially not only the members of the class, but every one who desires more knowledge of the subject. As soon as this bibliography has been completed, we will publish the list of references.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

Mr. Miller reports that his class in oral speech listed as Reading IV is much larger than he expected and is very interesting. This is the first time this course has been offered.

MATHEMATICS.

Mr. Colbert reports that Miss Helwig's class in astronomy is doing very good work and they are now getting ready to make observations.

MANUAL ARTS.

Mr. Glenn has an interesting class this quarter as his pupils are studying practical wiring such as the wiring of automobiles and gasoline engines.

The class this quarter in woodwork is working on flower-boxes and such articles which will be useful this spring and summer.

Ferd Masters—a last quarter as well as this quarter pupil in woodwork—is completing his work on a phonograph which he has named a "Masterola." He intends to have it completed in about three weeks, after which he intends to give a program in assembly. The work done on this machine is of his own design.

ATHLETIC NEWS.

On account of the Tarkio team being away on a trip, it has not been decided whether the game which was scheduled for Friday, the 19th with Maryville will be played on the scheduled date or at a later time.

Coach Rice is going to direct the work of placing the tennis courts in shape as soon as the weather permits; but they will not be fit to play upon for about three weeks. As spring is here track season will be open as soon as the last game of basket ball is over. Coach expects to begin training a track team after a few improvements are made on the track.

Ovylet Pence, who has been visiting home folks between quarters, returned Monday, March 8, to take up work in the spring term.

Elizabeth Moore, who was absent from school because of illness, returned to work Monday, March 8, Demonstration School.

The College Park basket ball boys defeated the B-8 team at the Washington school on March 8 by a score of 15 to 13.

Florence Holliday, who has been absent from school several days because of illness, returned Monday, March 8.

Misses Beulah Brunner and Mildred Miller made their usual trip to St. Joseph last Friday and Saturday in the interest of their extension work. Friday evening they saw "The Bird of Paradise," at the Lyceum.

Euel Ramsey, president of the sophomore class, will not be in school during the spring quarter.

The office force is busy sending out a letter to each high school senior in the district, setting forth some of the advantages of the Maryville College.

Mr. Glenn was in Atchison, Kans. Saturday and was accompanied home by his wife who had been visiting there for some time.

Mr. H. A. Miller went to Liberty to judge a debate between St. Joseph Central and Liberty High School last week. Mr. Miller upon arriving there found that he was the only judge, but he met the approval of both sides.

Mildred Shinabargar is at the St. Francis Hospital, where she is taking medical treatment.

Grace Smith and Vela Peoples of Skidmore were guests of Freda Peoples March 4.

Freda Peoples spent the week end March 5 to March 7 at her home in Skidmore.

Mr. Cauffield judged a debate given in Ravenwood between Barnard and Ravenwood, March 5.

Mr. Peck of Breckenridge, Mo., was in town March 8, visiting his daughter, Priscilla, who is a new student in our school.

Henry Sawyers, a former student at the College, who is now teaching at Rosendale, spent the week end visiting his parents in this city.

Charles Kane, a former student of the College, who is now employed by the University at Columbia, spent the week end visiting his parents in this city.

Mr. Hawkins went to Forest City last Saturday to address teachers' and board meetings. Mr. Colbert went to Albany for the same purpose.
